

& it came to pass that when Coriantumr had recovered of his wounds he began to remember the words which Ether had spoken unto him

he saw that there had been slain by the sword & already nearly two millions of his people & he began to sorrow in his heart yea there had been slain two millions of mighty men & also their <sup>wives</sup>wives & their children

he began to repent of the evil which he had done he began to remember the words which had been spoken by the mouth of all the prophets & he saw them that they were fulfilled thus far every whit & his soul mourned & refused to be comforted

& it came to pass that he wrote an epistle unto Shiz desiring him that he would spare the people & he would give up the kingdom for the sake of the lives of the people

& it came to pass that when Shiz had received his epistle he wrote an epistle unto Coriantumr that if he would give himself up that he might slay him with his own sword that he would spare the lives of the people

& it came to pass that the people repented not of their iniquity & the people of Coriantumr were stirred up to anger against the people of Shiz & the people of Shiz were stirred up to anger against the people of Coriantumr wherefore the people of Shiz did give battle unto the people of Coriantumr

& when Coriantumr saw that he was about to fall he fled again before the people of Shiz

& it came to pass that he came to the waters of Ripliancum which by interpretation is large or to exceed all wherefore when they came to these waters they pitched their tents & Shiz also pitched his tents near <sup>unto</sup> them & therefore on the morrow they did come to battle

CHAPTER 15

Millions of the Jaredites are slain in battle—Shiz and Coriantumr assemble all the people to mortal combat—The Spirit of the Lord ceases to strive with them—The Jaredite nation is utterly destroyed—Only Coriantumr remains.

<sup>1</sup>And it came to pass [X] when Coriantumr had recovered of his wounds, he began to remember the words which Ether had spoken unto him.

<sup>2</sup>He saw that there had been slain by the sword [ ] already nearly two millions of his people, and he began to sorrow in his heart; yea, there had been slain two millions of mighty men, and also their wives[ _ _ _ ] and their children.

<sup>3</sup>He began to repent of the evil which he had done; he began to remember the words which had been spoken by the mouth of all the prophets, and he saw them that they were fulfilled thus far, every whit; and his soul mourned and refused to be comforted.

<sup>4</sup>And it came to pass that he wrote an epistle unto Shiz, desiring him that he would spare the people, and he would give up the kingdom for the sake of the lives of the people.

<sup>5</sup>And it came to pass that when Shiz had received his epistle he wrote an epistle unto Coriantumr, that if he would give himself up, that he might slay him with his own sword, that he would spare the lives of the people.

<sup>6</sup>And it came to pass that the people repented not of their iniquity; and the people of Coriantumr were stirred up to anger against the people of Shiz; and the people of Shiz were stirred up to anger against the people of Coriantumr; wherefore, the people of Shiz did give battle unto the people of Coriantumr.

<sup>7</sup>And when Coriantumr saw that he was about to fall he fled again before the people of Shiz.

<sup>8</sup>And it came to pass that he came to the waters of Ripliancum, which, by interpretation, is large, or to exceed all; wherefore, when they came to these waters they pitched their tents; and Shiz also pitched his tents near [ ]unto[ ] them; and therefore on the morrow they did come to battle.

& it came to pass that they fought an exceeding sore battle in the which Coriantumr was wounded again & he fainted with the loss of blood

& it came to pass that the armies of Coriantumr did press upon the armies of Shiz that they beat them that they caused them to flee before them & they did flee southward & did pitch their tents in a place which was called Ogath

& it came to pass that the army of Coriantumr did pitch their tents by the hill Ramah & it was that same hill where my father Mormon did hide up the records unto the Lord which were sacred

& it came to pass that they did gather together all the people upon all the face of the land which had not been slain save it was Ether

& it came to pass that Ether did behold all the doings of the people & he beheld that the people which were for Coriantumr were gathered together to the army of Coriantumr & the people which were for Shiz were gathered together to the army of Shiz

wherefore they were for the space of four years gathering together the people that they might get all which were upon the face of the land & that they might receive all the strength which it were possible that they could receive

& it came to pass that when they were all gathered together every one to the army which he would with their wives & their children both men women & children being armed with weapons of war having shields & breast plates & head plates & being clothed after the manner of war & they did march forth one against another to battle & they fought all that day & ~~they~~ conquered ~~not~~

& it came to pass that when it was night they were weary & retired to their camps & after that they had retired to their camps they took up a howling & a lamentation for the loss of the slain 453 of their People & so great were their cries their howlings & lamentations that it did rend the air exceedingly

& it came to pass that on the morrow they did go again to battle & great & terrible was that day nevertheless they conquered not & when the night came again they did rend the air with their cries & their howlings & their mournings for the loss of the slain of their people

<sup>9</sup>And it came to pass that they fought an exceedingly sore battle, in [X] which Coriantumr was wounded again, and he fainted with the loss of blood.

<sup>10</sup>And it came to pass that the armies of Coriantumr did press upon the armies of Shiz that they beat them, that they caused them to flee before them; and they did flee southward, and did pitch their tents in a place which was called Ogath.

<sup>12</sup>And it came to pass that they did gather together all the people upon all the face of the land, who had not been slain, save it was Ether.

<sup>13</sup>And it came to pass that Ether did behold all the doings of the people; and he beheld that the people who were for Coriantumr were gathered together to the army of Coriantumr; and the people who were for Shiz were gathered together to the army of Shiz.

<sup>14</sup>Wherefore, they were for the space of four years gathering together the people, that they might get all who were upon the face of the land, and that they might receive all the strength which it were possible that they could receive.

<sup>15</sup>And it came to pass that when they were all gathered together, every one to the army [ ] which he would, with their wives and their children—both men, women and children being armed with weapons of war, having shields, and breast [ ] plates, and head-plates, and being clothed after the manner of war—[X] they did march forth one against another to battle; and they fought all that day, and [ ] conquered [ ] not.

<sup>16</sup>And it came to pass that when it was night they were weary, and retired to their camps; and after [X] they had retired to their camps they took up a howling and a lamentation for the loss of the slain of their people; and so great were their cries, their howlings and lamentations, that they did rend the air exceedingly.

<sup>17</sup>And it came to pass that on the morrow they did go again to battle, and great and terrible was that day; nevertheless, they conquered not, and when the night came again they did rend the air with their cries, and their howlings, and their mournings, for the loss of the slain of their people.

& it came to pass that Coriantumr wrote again an epistle unto Shiz desiring that he would not come again to battle but that he would take the Kingdom & spare the lives of the people

but behold the spirit of the Lord had ceased striving with them & Satan had full power over the hearts of the people for they were given up unto the hardness of their hearts & the blindness of their minds that they might be destroyed wherefore they went again to battle

& it came to pass that they fought all that day & when the night came they slept upon their swords

& on the morrow they fought even until the night came

& when the night came they were drunken with anger even as a man which is drunken with wine & they slept again upon their swords

& on the morrow they fought again & when the night came they had all fallen by the sword save it were fifty & two of the people of Coriantumr & sixty & nine of the people of Shiz

& it came to pass that they slept upon their swords that night & on the morrow they fought again & they contended in their mights with their swords & with their shields all that day

& when the night came there was thirty & two of the people of Shiz & twenty & seven of the people of Coriantumr

& it came to pass that they ate & slept & prepared for death on the morrow & they were large & mighty men as to the strength of men

& it came to pass that they fought for the space of three hours & they fainted with the loss of blood

& it came to pass that when the men of Coriantumr had received sufficient strength that they could walk they were about to flee for their lives but behold Shiz arose & also his men & he wore in his wrath that he would slay Coriantumr or he would perish by the sword
